TAKE POWER TO REGULATE CAR PARKING

Government Discovers No Jurisdiction Has Existed With Regard to Cars Around Buildings

AMENDMENTS TO SETTLEMENT LAW

Better Inspection of Public Buildings and Increasing of Means of Egress Planned

IN the past no authority has legally rested with the provincial authorities to regulate parking about public buildings. This fact was revealed by the Minister of Public Works yesterday in the Legislature during the second reading of the bill to amend the Public Works Act. The authority so to regulate parking is taken by the department under this bill.

The announcement of this fact was of special interest to the Leader of the Opposition who early in the session complained of having been interfered with in trying to park his car at the Parliament Buildings. This complaint he aired in the House.

When the announcement was made by Hon. N. S. Loughheed yesterday that authority did not exist, Mr. Pattullo became doubly interested in the bill, and informed the House that he wished he had known this a few weeks ago.

The lack of authority in this matter will apply particularly to parking about the Parliament Buildings, and also about the Court House in Vancouver. In the latter case the minister said that the lack of regulations was liable to be serious there, in case of a fire emergency.

The fact that authority did not exist was only discovered, the minister said, a little time ago.

CONTRACTORS' DEPOSITS

Mr. Loughheed said, on the second reading, that provision was being made in the bill to take care of a practice that had long existed, and which it was deemed wise to have legal authority given for its carrying on. This had to do with the deposit which was made by contractors with the Government. In many cases these deposits amounted to a very considerable sum of money. To hold these meant a great deal of inconvenience sometimes. It was provided that as the work progressed there could be a gradual reduction in the deposit so as to allow the money to be used, and at the same time not endanger the position of the Government with the work.

There was provision also, he said, to allow of the disposing of material amounting to less than $1,000.

STRENGTHENED BROKERS' LAW IS PROBABLE

Discussions at Toronto Close and Drastic Recommendation Will Be Made to Cabinet

MANY AMENDMENTS TO ACTS NEEDED

(Canadian Press)

TORONTO, Feb. 14.—After a five-day conference here during which the problem of legislating against illegal and unscrupulous actions on the part of stock brokers and exchanges was discussed fully, the representatives of six of the Attorneys-General of Canada left tonight for their respective capitals in complete agreement on all points.

As a result of the conference, five, and possibly seven provinces will adopt a uniform Security Frauds Prevention Act, aimed at the elimination of illegal short selling and bucketing practices on the part of brokers. These will be: British Columbia, Alberta, Saskatchewan, Manitoba, and Ontario.

Quebec with its separate civil law—the Code Napoleon—will have an act patterned after the "Master Act" as closely as possible. Prince Edward Island and Nova Scotia, while not represented at the conference, signified their intentions of adopting any recommendations made. New Brunswick was not represented.

REPORT NOT PUBLISHED

The report of the conference was not made public here. Each delegate will report back to his own Government and steps will be taken to incorporate in each act, the regulations recommended at the conference.

Only Earnest Desires for Peace and Security Mark Actions of All Delegates

(Copyright, 1930, by The Chicago Daily News Foreign Service)

LONDON, England, Feb. 14.—All the deeper forces operative at the Naval Conference continue to warrant confidence in a favorable issue of the delicate and difficult discussions. Certain superficial features of the situation have been given prominence. Differing views concerning submarines have been expounded. Big navy and small navy standpoints have been expounded. Anglo-American and Anglo-French parties have thrust themselves into the foreground. There has been the more or less exciting incident of an American proposal for a battleship racing in the North Sea.

But the conference has not been wrecked. It pursues its initial purpose, to accommodate the particular points of view of the five chief naval powers in a treaty reducing and limiting warship construction. So long as this work progresses orderly, I assume, may regard not, to be sure, without interest, but certainly without undue perturbation, the little day by day ups and downs of the conference. It would require decidedly more than anything yet in sight to bring the efforts of the five delegations to naught.

WORKING IN EARNEST

Why is this? It is because there is unanimity of desire for peace. None of the five nations wants war and none desires that perpetuation of naval competition which presages war. This is a conference, as I have stated before, in the spirit of the Briand-Kellogg pact. The nations are working in earnest.

Rt. Hon. Stanley Baldwin Charges They Are Trying to Wean Supporters From Socialism

ELECTION POLICY IS NOT POSSIBLE

BELFAST, Northern Ireland, Feb. 14.—"It is obvious the Labor Government is built on shifting sands," asserted Rt. Hon. Stanley Baldwin, leader of the Conservative Party of Great Britain, speaking at a luncheon of the Unionist Council here today.

"A curious feature of Labor in office is that the leaders are spending their whole time trying to wean the party from the Socialism they have preached for forty years," he added.

There was no consistency, no sincerity, he said.

DEMANDS OF FRENCH ARE MAIN ISSUES

Naval Conference Reaches Point When Tonnage Ratios Constitute First Direct Problem

THINK FRENCH ARE ONLY BARGAINING

With Main Questions Confronting Them, Delegates Hope to Conclude Work About March 15

By GEORGE HAMBLETON (Canadian Press Staff Correspondent)

LONDON, Feb. 14.—France wants to double her quota of cruisers, as fixed by the Washington Treaty of 1922. This, it is calculated, is the effect of the French memorandum on naval policy submitted last night. It is the first problem with which the naval conference is now confronted.

QUESTION OF RATIO

The Washington conference fixed a ratio in capital ships of five for Britain, five for the United States, three for Japan and 1.67 for France and Italy each. France objected to this ratio at the time, though she accepted it then, in fact, never actually built up to it.

For cruisers and destroyers France is now asking for a lump tonnage of 383,447, compared with the 539,000 tons of cruisers fixed in the Anglo-American party agreement.

These figures, if accepted by the present conference, would scrap the Washington ratio.

RIOTING AND FIGHTING IN MANY CITIES

Drive on Gangsters Continues at Chicago and Riots Call Police Out in Other Places

COMMUNISTS CALL BIG GATHERINGS

(Associated Press)

CHICAGO, Feb. 14.—All was quiet in Chicago gangland today. Comparative peace reigned and the lumps of superstition chucked at those who expected rioting, or, for reprisal for the St. Valentine's Day massacre of a year ago. The zero hour came and passed and there was not so much as a "boo" from gangland.

Victims of the massacre last St. Valentine's Day were seven members of the George "Bugs" Moran band of rum purveyors. They were lined up in a garage by opposition gangsters, posing as police, and killed by machine guns.

Any advantage in the war on hoodlums today were on the side of society. Seven men, among them some "big shots" from the hoodlum camp, were named in indictments for gun-toting. They were Bernard O'Donnell, George Barker, William "Three-Fingered Jack" White, Thomas Vincent, Herman Tinson, John Cleary and Albert Carter.

COMOX-ALBERNI NOMINATION IS SET MARCH 26

Conservatives of Northern Island Riding Will Meet at Courtenay to Choose Nominee Next Month

MR. T. H. KIRK WILL ATTEND

A convention of the Conservatives of the riding of Comox-Alberni has been called for Wednesday, March 26, at Courtenay, for the special purpose of nominating a candidate to represent the party in the forthcoming Dominion election.

Announcement is made well in advance of the date so that there may be a very representative gathering at the convention, which will gather on the date fixed to name whom the Conservatives of Comox-Alberni believe will be a winning nominee.

Mr. T. H. Kirk, M.P.P., president of the Provincial Conservative Association, will attend the convention, and so will Mr. J. J. Blair, provincial organizer.

The seat is held by Mr. A. W. Neill, who contests the riding as an Independent.

Assured that a strong candidate will be selected the Conservatives are taking steps to prepare for a vigorous campaign, and to be ready for the election at whatever time the poll is called. The district is a difficult one to cover, and the early nomination of a candidate is felt to be a necessary factor in assuring success.

Australian High Tariff Is Defended

(Associated Press Cable)

CANBERRA, Australia, Feb. 14.—A defence of Australia's "high tariff" policy was made by Prime Minister James Scullin, head of the new Labor Government, tonight. The tariff was designed to attract manufacturers to Australia, he said, and the success of this policy had already been shown by the large number of British concerns which had established factories in the Commonwealth.

Goods which Australia would be unable to manufacture herself will be warmly welcomed from Great Britain, he said, but in any event the present financial condition of Australia made necessary a reduction in imports.

Japanese Not To Go Where Not Welcome

(Associated Press)

TORONTO, Feb. 14.—Japan has no desire to intrude in countries where her people are not welcome, said Hon. I. Tokugawa, Japanese Minister to Canada, who is a visitor to Toronto for five days. He was the guest of Hon. W. D. Ross, Lieutenant-Governor, at a dinner last night. On Monday he will address the Canadian Club.

In an interview, the Japanese diplomat said:

"So long as the immigration question is dealt with by a country in such a way as not to hurt the sense of dignity and honor of the other country, that other country has nothing to say."

"We are sending numbers of our people to other countries—so long as they are welcome. There is no point in our people going where they are not welcome. The laws of some countries are closed to them, but there are some countries, such as Brazil, where they are wanted."

"Some day the immigration and emigration question will have a more international aspect. I am not predicting the exact nature of this development. Ten years ago who could have foretold such events as the broadcasting of a speech over the ocean. Other large developments may be expected, and one of them may be this international regard of immigration."

COMMUNIST RIOTS Promptly Ended In Indo-China

(Associated Press)

PARIS, Feb. 14.—The Ministry of the Colonies announced tonight that French soldiers had put down the recent Communist agitation in Indo-China and that peace and quiet now prevailed there. Martial law had been maintained in several districts.

The communists said the violent uprising at Port Yenbay was not aimed against overstrict military discipline, but had been fostered by Communist propaganda. The Communist party newspaper, L'Humanite, affirmed on the contrary that the people of Indo-China were struggling for freedom from French imperialist domination.

Five French officers were killed and five were wounded during the mutiny of native riflemen at Port Yenbay on February 12. Bombs were thrown in Hanoi, and troops had to repress an uprising in Hungho.

ALLEGES HOLDUPS TO BE ONLY FAKES

Report of Police Chief Bingham, of Vancouver, Gives Details of Robberies He Contents Have Been Fictitious—Declares He Has Signed Confessions as to What Really Happened

Prosecutions Likely Will Be Taken in Some Cases

VANCOUVER, Feb. 14.—Chief of Police W. J. Bingham branded as "an absolute fake" the alleged recent holdup of Mr. W. F. Brougham, city lawyer, when jewels worth $7,500 were reported to have been taken, when he appeared before the city police commission today. The chief made this charge in reply to a question from Mayor W. H. Malkin, chief police commissioner, and his statement proved the high light of today's session of the commission which is investigating police affairs.

At Wednesday's session of the commission, Chief Bingham made the charge that fifteen recent alleged holdups were fakes.

MAY PROSECUTE

Today the chief stated that he was securing legal advice with the object of prosecuting all those reporting fictitious holdups, and just prior to adjournment of the session, the commission referred the matter to the corporation counsel.

When the Brougham report had been read today, Mayor Malkin asked the chief if there were any more to the case, and the latter replied that as far as he was concerned the case was closed.

"What is your opinion?" asked the Mayor.

"It is an absolute fake, sir," replied the chief.

In the case of Mrs. Annie Robinson, who alleged she was beaten by a thug last Friday in a house on West First Avenue, where she was employed as housekeeper, Chief Bingham said that in his opinion, it was "clearly the work of a highly strung woman's imagination."

"I leave it to the commission as to those very doubtful cases," the chief added.

HAD NO BRUISES

He stated that despite the fact that Mrs. Robinson's story of the holdup told of an alleged brutal attack by a man who dragged her upstairs, and who struck her on the head, the woman had received no bruises, according to her own admission.

CHINA MAKES PREPARATION FOR TROUBLE

Thousands of Troops Being Moved in Readiness for Expected Renewal of Fighting Soon

FIVE GENERALS TO TAKE PART IN WAR

(By REGINALD SWEETLAND (Copyright, 1930, by The Chicago Daily News Foreign Service))

SHANGHAI, China, Feb. 14.—With the determination of the Nanking Government to recruit more than 60,000 men for the formation of five complete new divisions of troops, preparations are well under way for renewal of fighting in China this spring. Such a development is already the foregone conclusion of many persons here.

This recruiting campaign is not alone confined to the regions under Nanking's control, but it is pretty general throughout the country. Reports are that General Yen Hsi-Shan, powerful independent warlord and Governor of Shanxi Province, is active in Peiping and the North generally, and is outdoing Nanking in calling men into service.

DEMAND SHIPS

Part of this preparedness campaign was brought close to Shanghai yesterday when the Government demanded ten Chinese vessels for troop transportation; but when these were not forthcoming, it cancelled the sailing permits of all Chinese ships leaving Shanghai within two days pending negotiations with the heads of Chinese shipping firms.

At the same time, Nanking has been engaged upon large troop movements down the Yangtze River from Hankow to Pukow, across the river from Nanking, during the last week.

by advertising it locally instead of having to go through the necessity of a regular system of provincial wide advertising.
The bill passed its second reading.
INSURANCE BILL
Hon. R. H. Pooley, in moving the second reading of the bill to amend the Insurance Act, said the measure was more or less a technical one. The subject matter had been taken up with the insurance agents, and the companies. It was really a family arrangement between those concerned with ample protection afforded the public.
In reply to Mr. A. M. Manson, the Attorney-General said it was in line with that adopted in other provinces.
The bill passed its second reading.

APPEAL COURT
It is proposed under the bill to amend the Court of Appeal Act, that this court in dealing with appeals shall be constituted with an odd number of judges on the bench. This would avoid the judges dividing evenly on a decision.

Mr. Pooley in moving the second reading, said the bill had been submitted to the Bar Association, and also to the Chief Justice as a matter of courtesy.

One of the points referred to was with respect to a majority judgment. The bill provided that an odd number of judges should sit on an appeal. This would do away with the uncertainty, following an even division of the judges when four sat on an appeal.

The bill followed the practice of the Canadian Supreme Court.
Mr. A. M. Manson felt it was hardly fair to require that one judge, when able to sit, should have to remain off the bench. He saw difficulty in deciding which judge was to remain off the bench in a case.

He thought the practice was not followed by any other province.
Mr. Pooley said that in the Supreme Court of Canada the rule was that four might sit, with the consent of all parties only.

The bill passed its second reading.
LEGAL PROFESSIONS
The bill to amend the Legal Professions Act was explained by the Attorney-General as having been submitted to the Benchers of the province.

Under the bill a member of the legal profession might submit his bill of charges in a lump sum with the provision, however, that in case of dispute as to the bill, the details would have to be produced when taxing of the bill took place.

Mr. T. D. Pattullo felt that members of the legal profession when heard on a matter like this were all prejudiced witnesses.
He argued that every client should have the details of the bill. The taxing of the bill would mean more expense.

Mr. Pooley said the taxing would have to be without extra cost.
Mr. Manson argued that in a small bill the taxing costs would exceed the advantage to be gained. Moreover he felt that the conscientious solicitor would be deterred by not submitting the bill. He asked that the bill be withdrawn.

Mr. C. P. Davis asked if there was a general demand for this bill or if there was some special reason for it.
Hon. J. Hinchliffe said that if a lawyer did not think it to his advantage to render his bill in a lump sum, it could be depended upon he would still submit it.

The answers from the Benchers' Society was that the opinion was unanimous in the matter. The practice in Ontario was practically the same as this.
On motion of Mr. W. O. Kennedy the debate was adjourned.

LAND SETTLEMENT
The amendment to the Land Settlement Act introduced by the Minister of Agriculture proposes to give the power to borrow money for reforestation to farmers so as to enable them to deal with such transactions as increasing the stock of cattle on the farm and also for the supplying of water on farms.

Hon. W. Atkinson explained that it was proposed to borrow money to be used in purchasing cattle for settlers. He said that his visit to the Peace River had influenced him in reaching this conclusion. There were not sufficient cows to fill the needs of the district. Under this amendment help could be given these farmers who would return the money later. It was also provided that aid might similarly be given in the sinking of wells by providing the needed machinery.

The Attorney-General, explaining the provisions of the bill to amend the Fire Marshal Act, on the second reading of the bill yesterday, pointed out that the main section of the Act called for better inspection of schools, hotels, theatres, skating rinks, etc. than had prevailed. The fire marshal in cities was required to make frequent inspections. Another provision made for supplying in buildings of more than one story adequate means of escape in case of fire.

A provision was in the bill, as a result of a regrettable fire in Vancouver, for making of regulations by the Governor-in-Council for seeing that proper control was kept over the construction and installation. The bill passed its second reading.

Political Clash At Buenos Aires Is Fatal to Two
(Associated Press)
BUENOS AIRES, Feb. 14.—Two persons were killed and more than a score wounded, some seriously, in a clash last night between Conservatives and Radicals at Lincoln, Province of Buenos Aires, more than 400 shots being fired.

Among the seriously wounded are the Conservative Deputies Manuel Friso and Vignati. One of the dead is a police sergeant. Several of those seriously wounded probably will die.

The clash occurred while the Conservatives, who recently have increased their political strength at the expense of the Radicals, were holding a meeting in the principal square of the city. They were fired upon by their opponents, who were hidden on the roofs of neighboring houses and behind motor cars.

Only Earnest Desires for Peace and Security Mark Actions of All Delegates

are seeking not means of successful aggression, but means of successful defence. Never in the past has there been an international conference dedicated with such single-mindedness to the sole question of security.

Italy, strictly speaking, was the one nation suspected of warlike intentions when this conference opened. Every other nation represented was satisfied with the status quo. Great Britain had all the territory she wanted. America wished to abandon rather than seize territory. Japan had no complaint to make about things on the mainland of Asia. France's colonial empire was all she cared to take on. But Italy was overworked. Italy needed more room. It was imagined that she might be preparing to fight for more room.

ITALY PACIFIC, TOO
But Italy, too, came to London in a pacific mood. She has been the consistent champion of drastic naval reductions here. Some people smile cynically at her. They say she wants drastic naval reductions for the reason that she has no money to build warships. This is a mischievous point of view. It would be not only a European but a world misfortune if the great people of Italy were forced to the conclusion that armaments offered nations their only hope of decent consideration.

I have said that this is a conference in the spirit of the Briand-Kellogg pact. So it is. But for that pact it probably would not have been called, and if called it would have had relatively small chance to succeed. It is by no means strange, therefore, that the pact cannot be excluded from the official interchanges. So real it is even to the ultra-realistic French that they are insisting upon its being made one of the great practicalities of the conference—a thing as substantial in the balance of forces as battleships and cruisers themselves.

What answer the American delegation will give as the last word to the French, I do not know. What answer the American Senate finally would give, I am still further from knowing. But everyone knows that the body of American opinion, far from negligible, would acclaim prudent measures making the pact less easy of violation than it is now.

BUENOS AIRES, Feb. 14.—Two persons were killed and more than a score wounded, some seriously, in a clash last night between Conservatives and Radicals at Lincoln, Province of Buenos Aires, more than 400 shots being fired.

Among the seriously wounded are the Conservative Deputies Manuel Friso and Vignati. One of the dead is a police sergeant. Several of those seriously wounded probably will die.

The clash occurred while the Conservatives, who recently have increased their political strength at the expense of the Radicals, were holding a meeting in the principal square of the city. They were fired upon by their opponents, who were hidden on the roofs of neighboring houses and behind motor cars.

conference. Because of the fact that each province will adopt quite the same number of recommendations, but in the end, practically all of Canada will operate under the same law.

During the five-day period, the whole brokerage situation, in all its ramifications, was discussed. Three committees were appointed, each to study one phase. They dealt with general amendments to the Securities Act, amendments to the Securities Act, the Criminal Code and the Dominion Companies Act.

CONTENTIOUS POINTS
One of the most contentious points discussed was whether certain regulations were to be incorporated in the Securities Act or drafted into the constitutions of the exchanges. In the latter case, observance of the regulations would be demanded from the exchange on the part of each of the members. Only more rigid and exacting regulations were made part of the Securities Act, the more elastic matters being referred to the exchanges.

Recommendations to be made to the Federal Government will include amendments to the Criminal Code on matters conflicting with the Provincial Securities Acts and to the Dominion Companies Act. Under the latter act, there is an overlapping of authority when a company, operating a Dominion charter, sells its stock within a province under provincial regulations. This overlapping of authority will be cleared up in recommendations.

are seeking not means of successful aggression, but means of successful defence. Never in the past has there been an international conference dedicated with such single-mindedness to the sole question of security.

Italy, strictly speaking, was the one nation suspected of warlike intentions when this conference opened. Every other nation represented was satisfied with the status quo. Great Britain had all the territory she wanted. America wished to abandon rather than seize territory. Japan had no complaint to make about things on the mainland of Asia. France's colonial empire was all she cared to take on. But Italy was overworked. Italy needed more room. It was imagined that she might be preparing to fight for more room.

ITALY PACIFIC, TOO
But Italy, too, came to London in a pacific mood. She has been the consistent champion of drastic naval reductions here. Some people smile cynically at her. They say she wants drastic naval reductions for the reason that she has no money to build warships. This is a mischievous point of view. It would be not only a European but a world misfortune if the great people of Italy were forced to the conclusion that armaments offered nations their only hope of decent consideration.

I have said that this is a conference in the spirit of the Briand-Kellogg pact. So it is. But for that pact it probably would not have been called, and if called it would have had relatively small chance to succeed. It is by no means strange, therefore, that the pact cannot be excluded from the official interchanges. So real it is even to the ultra-realistic French that they are insisting upon its being made one of the great practicalities of the conference—a thing as substantial in the balance of forces as battleships and cruisers themselves.

What answer the American delegation will give as the last word to the French, I do not know. What answer the American Senate finally would give, I am still further from knowing. But everyone knows that the body of American opinion, far from negligible, would acclaim prudent measures making the pact less easy of violation than it is now.

POLICE AND PUBLICITY

The Vancouver police force appears to adopt a "hush hush" policy where crimes are concerned. The policy of Vancouver is also, to some extent, pursued in this city, where only a few of the housebreaking thefts of recent months have come to the ears of the public. The policy of secrecy is adopted because the police maintain that publicity would warn the criminals and they would make their escape. Whatever justification there is for this viewpoint the fact remains that arrests are few and far between, and because of lack of publicity about crime, insufficient precautions are taken by the public to guard against marauders.

Vancouver is earning an unenviable reputation for crimes, and often crimes with violence. In that city the citizens know what is going on because those who suffer tell the newspapers as well as the police, and the people are becoming more clamant all the time for action by their police force. It is no answer to the wave of crime which has marked the present winter there to hold-ups are of the "fictitious" variety. The mentality of a police force which eschews publicity is of a character which fails to recognize the mentality of criminals. The latter fear publicity more than anything else because they know that where it prevails entire communities are arrayed against them and that all eyes are on the watch to bring them to justice. Where here is lack of publicity there is a lack of arrests. This has been illustrated both in Vancouver and Victoria in recent months. The police commissions of both cities have a definite responsibility to the people at large in seeing to it that the latter are put into possession of information which will enable them to safeguard themselves and their possessions. Publicity is a factor recognized by all efficient police forces as an essential in the detection of those responsible for crime.

CHINESE IN CANADA

China has swept away extraterritoriality clauses in her foreign treaties with a stroke of the pen, but has not given to aliens in her midst those privileges in return which are accorded to Chinese who go to other countries. Chinese in Canada, for instance, are far freer to come and go throughout the country than Canadians and Englishmen in China. In the latter country foreigners are only allowed in certain places and are practically on sufferance wherever they go. In other words, in return for sweeping away special privileges to foreigners, China has not given generalized privileges. The situation thus created gives an opportunity, unlikely to occur again in the same way, for negotiations with China for the return to her shores of the Chinese population in this country. That population is now enjoying privileges that are not being accorded to British residents and travelers in China. The Nationalist Government there is pursuing a policy of ridding China of foreigners. In the process it should be possible for reciprocal arrangements to be made whereby a problem which has agitated this province for over two decades can be solved.

ACROSTICS

"The modern crossword puzzle, which depends for interest upon the fact that the initial letter of a word across forms the initial letter of a word down, is a development of a very old form of puzzle," writes Mr. Charles Lea in "Great Thoughts." "The first scribe who idly wrote down the name of his beloved and then made the letters from the first letters of the word in praise of that lady, was the unwitting inventor of a very crude crossword." A later development was what was called the "square word," in which a small word was taken and each letter formed the first letter of a word reading down, and the words across read the same as the words down. As time went on, and men became more proficient in the art of mastering words, the acrostic as a form of entertainment, and even instruction, flourished. An acrostic in its simplest form is a series of lines of which the first letters in each line form a word.

The invention of the acrostic is usually credited to an ancient named Porphyry Optatus, but the comedies of Plautus are in the form of acrostics, and there are even acrostics in the original Hebrew of the Book of Psalms. The one hundred and nineteenth Psalm is the original split into sections, each letter beginning with a letter of the Hebrew alphabet, which is still preserved in the English versions. Parts of the Lamentations and the Book of Proverbs are in the acrostic style. Addison declared that the revival of the acrostic after years of neglect was due to the fact that the monks, having so much time on their hands, were forced to find some harmless occupation, and chose the making of puzzles as the least sinful. One of the most famous of the acrostic makers was Sir John Davis, a courtier of the seventeenth century, who at the close of Elizabeth's long reign issued a series of twenty-six acrostics in honor of Elizabeth Regina. These "Hymns to Astraea" were loaded with praises of the Queen, and were on such subjects as Spring, the nightingale and the month of September. The acrostic on the month of September is a good sample of Davis' versifying, and as September was the birth month of the Queen, the poet seized his opportunity and dragged the Queen into it; not, of course, to Elizabeth's dismay, for she was a glutton for admiration, and loved those who lauded her, no matter how extravagantly.

Queen Victoria was the next British ruler to be interested in acrostics, and quite a number were written by her for the amusement of her children. She did not make hers in the form of rhymed verses, but merely wrote down the clues, and left single words to be found which would fit, much in the same manner as crosswords are set out today. Many society weeklies still print acrostics each week, and this is suggested to be the result of the example set by Queen Victoria in the 'fifties and 'sixties of last century. Dickens wrote of Mr. Slum, the verse writer, selling an acrostic which he had written for Warren's Blacking. So it is evident that the advertiser realized the popularity of this form of puzzle. Keats experimented with the acrostic more than once.

BRAIN POWER'S REWARD

The exploits of Primo Carnera, the Venetian carpenter, who is earning money while in the prize ring at a rate approximating $8,000 a minute, have raised anew the question of how far brains count in this world of ours. In comparison with sporting and athletic prowess they seem to count for little. The exercise of a keen mentality and of expert technical skill, which may be the result of many years of concentrated work and study, reaps trifling sums as compared with the rewards that can be earned in the prize ring, on the golf course, in baseball, in a variety of sports that are becoming professionalized more and more all the time.

The most striking inequality in the scheme of things is found in the world's recognition of physical as opposed to intellectual feats. Brains count in all the world while functions of the work-a-day world, but they take a secondary place to sporting prowess where monetary rewards are concerned. In the same way they are subordinated in the relative earning power of a Prime Minister as compared with a motion picture actress, or an electrical genius such as Mr. Thomas Edison as compared with a prize fighter. It is intellectual power that makes the machinery of progress go but as a motive force it is regarded as merely incidental in the human category. Truly it is a topsy turvy world in its perspective of rewards that should be given for work accomplished.

The Melbourne Australasian describes Singapore as the Verdun of the Commonwealth. It would be the fortress of defence of Australia's inviolability if that country were ever threatened from the sea. The Australasian also sees in Singapore a base required for the defence of India and of the British possessions in Africa, of the East Indies and the China Seas and as a door to naval strength in the Pacific Ocean. It is this great gate of defence that Great Britain's Labor Government is willing should be sacrificed.

RETRIBUTION

The soul into itself withdraws, thinking of all the gay, heroic ardours it forsook, the years that have been wasted over avarice, the passion that Love left, dying of its own fulness, and the fall into the deep where the seven unholly spirits conspire Against Holy Ones, turning the ash-born fire into infernal fires, feeding beauty to the beast. Remembering the dark rapine that was born of the feast.

It dreads the everlasting fire, the torment of sense. Oh, unhappy, the judge is not without thee but within. Who shall condemn thee, as retribution for thy sin. To the consuming fire of thine own pleasure.

—G. W. Russell (AE) in The Irish Statesman.

THE PRODIGALS

This was our day, and now the day is over. The last of all our splendid wealth of hours. Fades with the fading gold of the West—O lover! How we were spendthrift with this gold of ours! We squandered it on joys too frail to cherish—Spent song, forgotten laughter, roses here, And love that dies with the sun; and now they perish. And we are beggars, and the night, is here.

Oh, dawn on dawn will rise for us, but none Professional with pageant and with splendor Will summon back these hours of lost delight—Never cold moon, nor strange and alien cheer—Will lose Time's hold, nor bid the night surrender The spoil on which the gates swing closed tonight.

—Edgar McInnis in The Dalhousie Review.

Note and Comment

By R. B. D.

There is a tide in the affairs of men

We have been very discreet in our references to the Wheat Pool and its policy of orderly marketing of products. There was a time when we thought we knew a good deal about cultivation of the soil and the handling of the produce thereof, but that was a long time ago, when we were very young and every agriculturist was free and independent and conducted his business upon an individual basis. Agriculture is not what it was in those far-off and care-free days. It is organized, holds meetings and discussions and passes resolutions. It has gone on its progressive way and left us floundering in the rear of the procession.

Only once have we made a reference to the Wheat Pool and its policies. In that reference we compared the Canadian, or Prairie, Wheat Pool to the wheat, or corn, pool formed in Egypt thousands of years ago. The Egyptian wheat, or corn, pool was formed by Joseph, and it was not until the time of the flood that it was favorable to its success. There was a famine in the land and there was no corn anywhere else but in Egypt, and all that corn was held or controlled by Joseph, who was a statesman as well as an economist.

There may have been plenty of corn in remote parts of the world, then unknown to the Egyptians and their neighbors, but the means of communication and transportation in those days of antiquity and tribulation were limited. There were no railways, neither were there any steamships, nor electric telegraphs, then. Some adventurous spirits had tried to fly through the air, but those daring ventures were not conspicuously successful. So Joseph had everything all his own way, and anyone who wanted corn had to buy it from him.

You of course remember the story about the famine-stricken peasants of France, when the conditions of transport and communication were much better than they were in the days of the Pharaohs. When the Queen of France, who knew as much about the agricultural methods of her day as we do about agricultural methods of our present day, was told that her subjects were crying for bread and did not get it, she asked why they did not eat cake. Of course the Wheat Pool never thought that by withholding its products from the market it could reduce the people of Great Britain, whose staple food is bread, to the extremity of eating cake. The purpose of the Wheat Pool was plain enough and legitimate enough. The Pool knew to a fraction the cost of producing and marketing corn, and it hoped by its policy to exact from consumers in Britain a price for its product that would not be altogether unremunerative to the farmers for their time and their labor.

Unfortunately for the purposes of the Pool, the millers of Great Britain seem to have been better informed about the "viable supply" of wheat in other countries than the advisors of the Pool. At any rate, thus far the British millers have demonstrated that they are independent of Canadian sources of wheat supply. Other countries, upon learning that John Bull was hungry and apparently resentful because of a suspicion that there was a movement to "hold him up," proceeded to feed him with wheat that, if it was not just as good as Canadian wheat, was good enough for immediate purposes. Cargoes of wheat were landed at British ports from Australia, from Argentina and from an unexpected place, Germany (exported with a bounty on its head). It is even said that Russia has dumped a considerable quantity of wheat on the British market, although that report apparently, according to the managers of the Pool, was circulated for purposes of propaganda.

When the policy of the Pool was first announced, we pointed out that the immediate effect of the policy would not be good for Canada, but that the ultimate effect would be for the benefit of the country, for there can be no permanent prosperity in Canada if the base industry of agriculture is not prosperous. One immediate effect of the Wheat Pool policy was a tremendous reduction in the earnings of all transportation systems and the loss of employment by thousands of employees of those systems. Another and later effect was a strain in the relations between the people of the Mother Country and the people of Canada.

The policy of the Pool has "started something" which was probably not contemplated by the framers of that policy. It has united not only all Canada, but the continent of America, for the purpose of preventing its failure and securing its success. The bankers of Canada are behind it, the Government of three provinces are behind it, the Government of the United States is behind it, and the Government of the United States is backing it with an appropriation of millions of dollars. What chance has the effect law of supply and demand against such a force as that? The tide in the affairs of the Canadian Wheat Pool is at the flood, and if it does not lead to fortunes for the farmers, there appears to be little chance of its recession leaving them high and dry upon the rocks.

THE FEAR OF DISEASE

Sir,—Now-a-days one cannot pick up a book or a paper without some medical advice as to what we should do or otherwise. Even children in the schools are scared of microbes. Last week I heard a lecture where a doctor advised parents to have seven different serums of seven different diseases injected into each child they had. In Sunday's Colonist a medical man advises the washing of the hands before touching the face or head. If one puts on his thing cap for a moment, probably he will realize that the face and head are touched by the hands at least one hundred times each day.

Are we to carry around a sponge, soap, towel and a bowl of water everywhere. Twenty years back about one hundred beds in the two hospitals were sufficient. Now, with not much larger population, there are nearly 1,000. What is the matter? Are people being scared into diseases?

W. J. DANDRIGE.

GUARANTEES FOR HONESTY

Sir,—Reading my letter on "Guarantees for Honesty" in the Sunday Colonist, I see that I may have given a wrong impression. I do not attack all lawyers. I grant that there are many excellent ones of high integrity. I have at the moment lawyers acting for me in my home country on the prairies, and here locally, with regard to my financial affairs, and against none of these, now acting for me, have I any complaint, nor do I wish to reflect on them.

What I do complain of is the difficulty of getting effective punishment given to the black sheep of the profession. It is true that actual stealing, or misappropriation, of funds is punished—if the victim can afford to bring his case to court. But there are many things short of actually criminal, that cause great difficulty and damage.

My letter was written as a spur to honest lawyers to tighten up on the protection of themselves, and the public, against the unscrupulous ones who drift in and put on a great show in order to attract unwary clients. These people are of the mistaken opinion that the more a solicitor is bedecked with outward paraphernalia as seals of honesty, the higher his integrity; that the more he advertises, the more attractive is the service he represents. They forget that the honest lawyer does not need to advertise; his good work and reputation are enough; and he is not constantly in need of new clients—he keeps the ones he has got.

I fully realize there are many wrongs our present laws do not cover, and I honor the advice of those who, to their own financial loss, tell me that I would not, after lapse of time, and the services of other agents of mine—now have sufficient chance of satisfaction. These men I said were shielding the guilty.

I do, however, think there ought to be more protection for unwary people; many of whom are wronged but are too timid, or too poor, to protect themselves, and are naturally afraid to trust in another lawyer, after their experience with the unscrupulous ones. And I do think that by passively allowing wrongdoers to exist in their midst, the profession, as a whole, does itself harm, and I want it to wake up and set its house in order.

The great humane principle of English law, that one is not guilty until proven so, is most useful for the unhappy and unfortunate; and it is most just.

But it can also serve as a cover for those unscrupulous ones who know fully how to take advantage of it; and who, in a privileged position of trust, and in the handling of other people's means, can very effectively pervert the principle of possession, and resist justice; if remedies are not found to protect the public.

EDUCATIONAL WORRIES

Sir,—In reply to the letter of Mr. Bais in Thursday's Colonist, I must confess that I am absolutely ignorant when it comes to replying to the question "Does not the taxpayer in British Columbia pay for the education at the public schools of children of Chinese who may have been born in this country?" I say I don't believe the Chinese in British Columbia practice polygamy, and I have never heard of them having illegitimate children. I am almost certain that the Chinese and Japanese are in many cases taxpayers in this province and also have one or two private schools of their children, because they realize the value of a fairly good education more than a great many of our own race do.

The serious problem of the Chinese is not for us to fight; it is for those who were responsible for allowing them into British Columbia in the first place. If we can in any way suggest a remedy, why it is our duty to do so regarding education.

Now, to cut my story short, I wish to inform Mr. Bais that the three resolutions of School Trustees, held in Victoria in 1928, three resolutions were submitted by the Lady Smith School Board. One of these resolutions read as follows: "That a special tax be placed on all Chinese and Japanese in the province, to be used for school purposes only." I must admit that I was responsible for these resolutions. It had been previously arranged at a meeting that if any of us had any resolutions, we could send them to the secretary of the British Columbia Trustees' Association direct, because there was not then time for discussion. Having had these three resolutions in my own mind for some time, I decided to act for the good of the province. The chairman and myself were appointed as delegates. At the convention he told me he had not heard the arrangement, and he thought that it should come before the board. Consequently I withdrew my resolutions, but not before another trustee had asked me if I would kindly withdraw another resolution because it had to do with his city and should be coming from his board.

Well, a trustee from a Vancouver municipality gallantly stood up and stated I should not be allowed to withdraw my resolutions. The Oriental one was an excellent one and should be discussed. Naturally I explained the reason in a few words as possible.

In the report of the trustees' convention of 1925 will be found the three resolutions, but there is an error. I personally withdrew my own resolutions on the floor at this meeting, and not the chairman, as is stated. They were given in good faith, as a trustee, and it is every trustee's duty to do the best he or she can for the people. Had I known as much as I know now I would not have withdrawn them.

NEW COURTHOUSE SITE

Sir,—For some time I have had a notion that the city should provide something to attract the tourist in addition to what nature has already endowed us with—a fine climate and scenic beauty. I venture, therefore, to make a suggestion with a view to drawing out the opinion of others with respect to its feasibility.

To begin with, we are about to have a new courthouse. I have heard no suggestion as to any particular site being favored. For myself, I think that no more imposing or suitable site could be had than that of the old cathedral, set well up, practically open all round, in the city and yet removed from all the bustle and noise of city traffic, a thing so essential in a deliberation chamber. If this be conceded, while erecting a building of which the city would be proud, combining beauty with utility, why not a reproduction of the "Parthenon," the rocky foreground of the site, recalling the stadium where Plato lectured his pupils. It is probable that such a building would attract thousands more tourists to cross the line, most of whom would have little notion of ever plunging the seas of the Mediterranean to view the remains of the original. I may here state that Chicago has reproduced the "Bacchus," which is used as a museum. Until industrial mature, I think it would be wise to fill in the time adding "features."

HISTORY CLUB STAGES MODEL OF ASSEMBLY

League of Nations Delegates Depicted in Session by High School Students

RESOLUTIONS MADE IN MANY LANGUAGES

Happy was the idea which prompted the suggestion that the Modern History Club of Victoria High School might present, with advantage to history students and others interested, a model of the League of Nations Assembly, with the delegates in session at Geneva. From the finished manner in which the initial presentation was carried out last night in the gymnasium of the high school building, it was evident that a great deal of attention and care had been devoted to the proper effect of the instructors of the institution who were responsible for the representation of the famous assembly carrying on its activities for the benefit of mankind.

Splendidly conceived and admirably carried out, teachers and students are to be commended on the smoothness and lack of hesitation which characterized their combined interpretation of what transpired at the opening session of the Tenth Assembly at Geneva in 1929. The various speeches of leaders like Ramsay MacDonald, Aristide Briand, Herr Stresemann, Arthur Henderson and Dr. Nauman's secretary, were delivered with administrative and convincing force. Speaking on the signing of the Optional Clause, whereby signatory states bound themselves to accept the jurisdiction of the World Court in legal disputes, representatives of fifteen nations stated their reasons with clearness and good enunciation, as did the delegates from the several countries who introduced proposals and resolutions to the assembly, a number of which necessitated interpretation, being spoken in the tongue of the national addressing the gathering.

Speaking immediately prior to the opening proceedings of the Model Assembly, Principal Dilworth told of the inception of the idea, and how it had been enthusiastically received by the members of the club. While it could not hope to be technically correct, the presentation would give some idea of the vastness of the work of the delegates who were working and thinking in terms of peace, which would eventually become peace-minded. With the efforts to present the Model Assembly, Mr. Dilworth mentioned the names of Messrs Shields and Walls, Mrs. Ramsdell, Messrs McFarlane, Dean and Goss.

LONDON BROKERS PAY ALL LOSSES

Five Million Dollars Are Raised to Settle Shares Sold by Hatry Group of Companies

(Canadian Press Cable)
LONDON, Feb. 14.—The Stock Exchange settlements in shares of the Hatry group of companies, held up since the crash last September, was effected yesterday. It was found yesterday that some of the Hatry interests had obtained payments from brokers for nonexistent shares, while other allied concerns bought the same securities, but were unable to take them up.
With a view to avoiding heavy losses, Stock Exchange failures and costly litigation an unofficial committee of the Stock Exchange was appointed to draw up a scheme providing for the formation of a fund of $5,000,000 from which all losses would be paid. All brokers and jobbers contributed $4,000,000 in fixed assessments, and the remainder was provided by stock exchanges and others who, while not directly involved, were anxious to preserve the "good name of the city," the financial section.
This fund is being paid out from yesterday by the trustees, the Royal Exchange Assurance.

DEMANDS OF FRENCH ARE BIG ISSUES

As Italy is also demanding parity with France, these ratios would finally be 5-5-3-3-3. It is unlikely, however, Japan would be content with such a new ratio, ranking her with France and Italy in cruiser strength.

TWO DIRECT PROBLEMS

The two immediate problems before the conference, therefore, arise from the French memorandum and are:
(1) Whether Great Britain, the United States and Japan will accept the doubling of the Washington ratio as applied to French cruiser strength.
(2) Restriction of the principle of transfer of tonnage from destroyer classes to the light cruiser class, and vice versa.

The latter point, while apparently only of a technical nature, is considered of great moment to the British position. France wants her tonnage of light cruisers and destroyers lumped in one category. Under this classification she could devote most of this tonnage to light cruisers, giving her further strength in this class of warcraft.

Britain, however, to meet the possible submarine menace, must maintain her destroyer strength.
BRITISH TENDENCY
The tendency in British circles, however, is to regard the French figures rather as bargaining figures than anything else. It is felt that with further negotiations the situation will be made easier. The French memorandum was under discussion between the British, American and French delegations today.

The whole situation again emphasizes that all naval strengths are relative. At least there is some satisfaction that the French have submitted concrete figures, which make a basis for discussion of actual naval strengths.

It is understood the delegates are hoping to conclude the conference by about March 15. The conference has just now come to the actual task of filling in the figures of total naval tonnages, after a month of preliminary discussion on the methods of limitation.

In Run Over by Locomotive and Six Freight Cars and Does Not Sustain Even Scratch
EDMONTON, Feb. 14.—Run over by a locomotive and six freight cars while laying between the ties on the railroad, two and a half miles west of Smithers, B.C., without receiving the slightest scratch, is the almost miraculous experience of Allen Forman, two-year-old child, who slipped away from his parents Sunday evening and toddled off along the track on an exploration trip. The story was brought to Edmonton today by A. Garfin, C.N.R. newsboy on the Smithers-Prince George run.

According to details which Garfin heard at Smithers, the child left home shortly before six p.m. Sunday. The parents noticed the child's absence and immediately commenced a search. Throughout the night the search continued with lanterns, dogs and fires, without any trace being found of the youngster. When an engineer of an eastbound freight rounded a sharp curve he noticed some object lying between the rails. Owing to the curve and speed the engineer was unable to bring the train to an immediate stop, but after passing over the object the heavy freight train was stopped. When the crew went back they found the little child lying unhurt between the rails in a slight depression which the warmth of his body had melted in the snow.

The child was immediately rushed to Smithers, where it was found that beyond having feet and hands slightly frozen he was uninjured.

FIVE RIVAL GENERALS
Central China, especially the region around Chengchow, which is the junction of the Lunghai and the Peiping-Hankow Railroads, remains a danger spot to China's peace, since the area now has at least five generals, including the so-called Christian General Feng Yu-hsiang, always an inscrutable factor in the Chinese scene. Each of these generals has personal ambitions, while loyalty of any to Nanking is more than questionable.

General Shih Yu-san, whose revolt at Pukow last December nearly wrecked the Nationalist Government, continues to be a threat to Nanking, and opinion is that a war against General Shih is necessary to get back the railroad equipment he seized. This included thirteen locomotives, ten of which, still unused, had arrived at Tsinlingao from the United States on November 10, as well as other quantities of rolling stock.

TWO BROTHERS KILLED
JENA, La., Feb. 14.—Two brothers, Lamart Whatley and Gerady Whatley, were killed late today when an airplane crash near here. W. K. Davidson, pilot of the plane, was badly burned but is expected to recover.

"I'll go to work for You, Mother"

BRAVE words, bravely spoken. Boyish shoulders, braced to lift burden of responsibility beyond their strength.

It is a tragedy so common as to create but little comment... children starting out to fight life's battles, unequipped.

Have you thought of the story behind the little figure that urges you to buy a paper... that begs the chance to run an errand, for a few sorely-needed coppers? Have you imagined the plans that may have been made for his education—the hopes, held in happier days, for his future?

And have you considered what would be the fate of your boy... your girl... should you be taken away? For the burden you drop must be carried on... on the frail shoulders of your children... Or on the broad, sustaining back of Life Insurance.

Make your decision today... and protect, with adequate Life Insurance, the future you would wish for those you love.

Any Life Insurance representative will be pleased to discuss the details with you.

Metchosin W.A.

The Women's Auxiliary of St. Mary's, Metchosin, met on Thursday afternoon at the vicarage. The president, Miss Blythe, opened the meeting with prayers, and a reading from the Scripture. Eleven members responded to the roll call, and one guest was welcomed. The treasurer reported a balance on hand of $22.74. The literary secretary has ordered the study books which have not yet been received. The superintendent of juniors took six members to the meeting in Victoria on January 25. Miss Chingwin, who was a delegate to the Diocesan annual meeting, gave a splendid report. Twenty dollars was voted to the Dorcas secretary to purchase material for the bale which will again be sent to the Indian school at Alert Bay. A letter was read from the prayer partner and in this connection it was decided to ask Miss Simcox if she would address the next meeting in this branch of the work. Mrs. Weir is lending her house for a party to be given on Thursday evening, February 27, for the benefit of the Women's Auxiliary. There will be an informal musical programme and everyone is welcome. It was brought to the attention of the members that the taxes on the vicarage need to be paid, also the insurance is due this year. After the meeting adjourned, tea was

PROGRESS MADE IN MISSION WORK

Officers Elected at Final Session of Presbyterian Large Sum Raised During Year

At the closing session of the sixteenth annual meeting of the British Columbia Provincial Women's Missionary Society of the Presbyterian Church in Canada, held yesterday afternoon at St. Andrew's Church, the work of the mission workers among the Chinese in the province was given earnest consideration.

The work of various branches was outlined, and special attention was given in the report of those branches devoted to the activities of the young people. The work of the mission workers among the Chinese in the province was given earnest consideration.

Mrs. Thomas Wilson, of Vancouver, read a full and very comprehensive report as corresponding secretary, telling of the progress made in the work of the conference in the interior of the province. Mrs. W. J. White was in charge of the question box, and several small points of routine matters were dealt with.

Dancer's Technique Necessary to Art

Art in dancing is the ability of the dancer to express ideas through rhythmic motion of the body. Technique is the knowledge of motion that enables the dancer to interpret to the fullest expression, although it is the dancer's personality which, in the last analysis, makes this expression interesting or otherwise to the onlooker.

Miss Jose Farrington, who has had a dancing studio here for some years, and is now teaching at the Crystal Gardens, is particularly interested in her children's classes, having an intuitive perception of children's personality and working toward the expression of this in their dancing. She teaches dancing of every type, and parents are invited to come and watch the pupils in their ballet, interpret, toe, character, acrobatic, musical comedy and pantomime work. She has recently added classes for girls who are in offices during the daytime and has had much success in teaching these both fancy and ballroom steps.

AUTHORS LISTEN TO BRIEF TALKS

A pot-pourri of material of interest to authors was collected in the course of the programme arranged by Mrs. W. I. Fraser, for the February meeting of the Victoria and Island branch of the Canadian Authors' Association. Among the speakers were Mme. Sanderson-Mongin, who gave a delightful resume of art and literature in France in the 'thirties of last century, comparing these with the free and exploratory conditions of the present day. The effect of the wave of romanticism on a period bound by the rules and restrictions of a severe classical school was illustrated by reference to works of Victor Hugo, Lamartine, Gautier, and others. Mrs. O. Bjornafelt gave a paper on "How Travel Helps One to Write," in the course of which she touched on the work of Selma Lagerlof, the great Swedish novelist, and some of her outstanding works, notably "Marbache" and "Jerusalem." Mr. Henslowe explained the value of atmosphere and local color in story writing, and indicated some of the traditions which Canada offered her writers to give warmth and color to character portrayal. Mr. A. T. Codrington read an essay dealing with the differences between romanticism and classicism in poetry.

Of special interest were the reminiscences of Mr. Armp, who had the great privilege, as a child, of meeting Charles Dickens. His description of some of the old Dickens haunts in the London of fifty years ago, many of which have entirely disappeared, made a fascinating interlude.

Others who took part on the evening's programme were Mrs. J. R. Angus, secretary of the group; Mrs. C. D. Henderson, librarian; and Miss P. Clayton. The president, Mr. A. Carmichael, was in the chair, and at the close of the programme refreshments were served.

The prize winners for the evening were Mrs. Doris Davey, Mrs. Mona Fraser, Miss Winnie Warburton and Miss Mabel Gilliland. On behalf of herself and the members of her chapter, Mrs. H. G. Bolt, regent, presented Mrs. Sheret with a beautiful flowering plant as a small token of appreciation of Mrs. Sheret's kindness to the Robert Burns McKim Chapter.

It is suggested that there should be a home for toy dogs suffering from nerves.

AUTHORS LISTEN TO BRIEF TALKS

A pot-pourri of material of interest to authors was collected in the course of the programme arranged by Mrs. W. I. Fraser, for the February meeting of the Victoria and Island branch of the Canadian Authors' Association. Among the speakers were Mme. Sanderson-Mongin, who gave a delightful resume of art and literature in France in the 'thirties of last century, comparing these with the free and exploratory conditions of the present day. The effect of the wave of romanticism on a period bound by the rules and restrictions of a severe classical school was illustrated by reference to works of Victor Hugo, Lamartine, Gautier, and others. Mrs. O. Bjornafelt gave a paper on "How Travel Helps One to Write," in the course of which she touched on the work of Selma Lagerlof, the great Swedish novelist, and some of her outstanding works, notably "Marbache" and "Jerusalem." Mr. Henslowe explained the value of atmosphere and local color in story writing, and indicated some of the traditions which Canada offered her writers to give warmth and color to character portrayal. Mr. A. T. Codrington read an essay dealing with the differences between romanticism and classicism in poetry.

Of special interest were the reminiscences of Mr. Armp, who had the great privilege, as a child, of meeting Charles Dickens. His description of some of the old Dickens haunts in the London of fifty years ago, many of which have entirely disappeared, made a fascinating interlude.

Others who took part on the evening's programme were Mrs. J. R. Angus, secretary of the group; Mrs. C. D. Henderson, librarian; and Miss P. Clayton. The president, Mr. A. Carmichael, was in the chair, and at the close of the programme refreshments were served.

Not a bargain dentifrice

SAVING teeth is so much more important than saving a few cents per tube, that Forhan's would rather be a fine dentifrice than a cheap one.

This dentifrice serves as a double safeguard—you automatically firm up your gums and help them to keep in good health, at the time you clean your teeth with Forhan's—35¢ and 60¢—a few cents a tube more than the ordinary toothpaste; and exceedingly well worth it. Forhan's Limited, Montreal.

Cabaret Proves Great Success

Eclipsing all other dances of a similar nature arranged by the Commodore Broughton Chapter, I.O.D.E., the St. Valentine cabaret supper-dance, held last night at the Empress Hotel, proved an outstanding success. The members of the chapter are to be congratulated upon the marked degree of finish which characterized last night's affair, and the "turns" which were given at intervals during the dance programme were particularly effective.

The programme, under the direction of Mrs. Edward McQuade, was much enjoyed, the opening number being a solo by Miss Marie North who possesses a voice of great beauty. Her number, "Love," brought forth repeated encores, and her costume, a beautiful Slavic dress of white satin, with shimmering silver headpiece, was particularly lovely.

The second number was a "Doll Dance" selection, sung by Miss Betty Savannah, assisted by Miss Margaret Jancowski and Miss Jean Moody as "Painted Dolls" in quaint red and white gingham frocks, red and white socks, and touselled hair.

One of the most popular numbers was "Sweetest Than Sweet," sung by Mr. Alan King, assisted by a chorus comprising Miss Jean MacLachlan, Miss Bea McMillan, Miss Bernice Penzer and Miss Norma Pendray. The costumes of shimmering white satin and deep flounces of white tulle were very striking, and the general effect was a delight to the guests. This number called forth three encores.

As a toe dancer, Miss Gertrude Partridge, in a smart little tulle ballet costume, proved one of the popular soloists, and this "turn" was followed by a very quaint number, "Tip-Toe Through the Tulips," sung by Mrs. S. Bell, with a chorus comprising Miss Bea McMillan, Miss Bernice Penzer, Miss Jean MacLachlan and Miss Norma Pendray.

Dutch costumes. All the dresses were designed and made by Miss Elsa Michaels and Miss Norma Pendray.

Now Principal Of Noted School In Leeds

An event in which many Victorians will be interested because of the part played in it by Miss A. B. Juniper, one-time supervisor of the domestic science course in the Victoria schools, took place recently at the Yorkshire Training College of Housecraft, Leeds, of which Miss Juniper has been principal for the last four or five years. The event was the annual distribution of prizes, which was presided over by the Duchess of Atholl made the presentations in the presence of a distinguished gathering.

The prizes were being given to the students of the Housecraft Institute of Housecraft in the presence of a distinguished gathering of the kind in England and Wales, and has to serve the whole of Yorkshire. In her annual report, read in connection with the presentation of diplomas, Miss Juniper recorded that it had 143 full-time students, of whom eighty-three were training for teaching, and sixty for home or professional use in other spheres than teaching. Each Thursday public demonstrations are held, and the doors had to be closed because of lack of further accommodation.

In the address which she gave in connection with the diploma presentations, the Duchess of Atholl made an appeal through the Board of Education to the government for more adequate premises for the college.

A few days after this event Miss Juniper officiated at the distribution of prizes at the Thornes House Girls' Secondary School in Wakefield.

Debutantes Prepare For Social Whirl

By JOAN LITTLEFIELD
Stiff Collared and the North American Newspaper Alliance
LONDON, Feb. 14.—Although the London season is still some months ahead, "coming out" dances for this year's debutantes are already being planned.

The daughters of many illustrious and ancient families are to be presented. Among them are Lady Katherine Howard, sister of the young Duke of Norfolk, who is England's premier duke and hereditary Earl Marshal; the Hon. Mary Elizabeth Elphinstone, niece of the Duchess of York, whom she greatly resembles; Miss Diane Chamberlain, lady fair daughter of Sir Austen and Lady Patricia Moore, who cut off her long plaits after a recent visit to America and who has already written a book about Mexico, where she spent a good deal of her childhood. She illustrated it herself.

One of the first of this year's debutante dances takes place February 26, at the Grafton Galleries. Three young ladies are to be presented on this occasion, one of them General Oliva's daughter, Mary. There will be a somewhat unusual cabaret during supper. This is to consist of some "good" music provided by Miss Jolly D'Arany, violinist, and Miss Gabrielle Joachim, singer, to be followed by a roller skating turn.

The big trouble today is that many automobile drivers believe that the right of way belongs to the one who gets there first.

Boys and Girls Raising Budget For Their Work

TWENTY-SEVEN vacation schools attended by 1,820 children, the activities of 360 G.O.I.T. groups with an enrollment of 3,881 girls, of whom 100 belong to the pioneer section, many conferences and camps, 327 students enrolled in standard training courses and another successful Boys' Parliament are some items in the recently issued survey of the work of the Religious Education Council of British Columbia. For the support of this work the 7,000 boys and girls of the Tuxis and Trail Rangers clubs and the G.O.I.T. groups are undertaking to raise during the ten days ending February 20 the sum of $7,100 by means of subscriptions of fifty cents and upwards given in the form of a share in this character-building concern. Last year the young people of Victoria raised $665.15. This year they have taken $775 as their objective. The Victoria Boys' Work Board is under the chairmanship of Mr. W. C. Thomson and Alderman W. T. Strath is a member of the provincial organization, while Mrs. H. Nixon and Mrs. Maude Hammond are actively identified with the campaign among girls.

Dressed by Mr. Charles E. Vaughan, an eloquent speaker, an editor of a daily paper and member of the Legislature of Washington. This meeting is also a part of the proposed campaign.

PASTOR TO ACT FATHER'S PART

The profound and enthusiastic interest displayed in the religious dramas being presented at the City Temple on Sunday nights and attracting large congregations, has caused their continuance, and on Sunday evening the immortal parable of Jesus, "The Prodigal Son," will be produced in three acts. The cast will enact a modern version of this story, and will doubtless find an appeal to the hearts of young and old alike. The father, Mr. Anderson, will be taken by Dr. Glen Davies, the mother by Maude Hammond; the elder son by Nelson Goodwin and the prodigal by Harold B. Whitfield. Judge Jeffery's role will be undertaken by George M. Durham. The incidental solos will be sung by Mr. Frank H. Partridge. Other evening soloists will be Mrs. Styles and Mrs. Edward Parsons. The evening anthem will be "Hear My Prayer" (Mendelssohn).

TO LECTURE ON HEALING

Rev. Dr. F. N. Riale, Presbyterian Divine, Will Give Address in St. Andrew's Church

Victoria is to have the privilege of hearing a series of four addresses to be given by Rev. Frank N. Riale, Ph.D., D.D., on "The Healing Ministry of Jesus." Dr. Riale will give his opening address on Sunday evening, February 16, in St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church, Douglas Street, and will continue his lectures on Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday evenings at 8 o'clock in St. Andrew's Church under the auspices of the Victoria branch of the Canadian Guild of Health.

Dr. Riale is a Williams Fellow of Harvard University and a well-known Presbyterian divine. His pastorates have been in Cleveland, Chicago, St. Louis and Cincinnati. From his last parish he was called to the Presbyterian Board of Education, New York City, which position he held with great acceptance for five years. He has for years been intensely interested in trying to make the church at large realize the most blessed and vital importance of the place of "the gift of healing" in the full and everlasting Evangel of Jesus to the extent that he has given up all other work to writing and giving community addresses along this line.

Dr. Riale's healing messages are receiving the warmest words of appreciation from such outstanding men as Dr. E. Stanley Jones, author of "The Christ of the Indian Road." Rev. Dr. Joseph Fort Newell, world-known preacher and author, and scores of other religious leaders and editors on both sides of the sea. His books are being most enthusiastically read the world over.

Rev. Kenneth Mackenzie, D.D., one of the best-known ministers of the Protestant Episcopal Church, has given a lengthy and most sympathetic review of Dr. Riale's last book, "The Healing Ministry of Jesus."

Dr. Riale will take as his subject for the first of these addresses, "The Glory of the Forward Look," continuing on Monday with "How the Light Came and the Fire Fell." Tuesday's and Wednesday's subjects will be announced from the pulpit. A hearty invitation is extended to all and it is hoped that every church throughout the city will be well represented. The series will extend from Sunday evening, February 16, to Wednesday evening, February 19, inclusive.

The pastor of Fairfield United Church, Rev. Hugh Nixon, will preach in the morning on "An Old Evil in a New Civilization," dealing with the question, is man to be master or victim of the civilization he has created? Dr. Howard is a thoughtful and forceful speaker and Fairfield friends should avail themselves of the opportunity of hearing him.

The minister, Rev. W. A. Guy, will conduct the morning service at Oak Bay United Church. The day is being observed as temperance education Sunday. The juniors will hear a sermonette on "The Quality of Hardness—Are You a Sponge or a Flint?" The topic to be discussed with the adult people will be "The Drink Evil, a Complex and Challenging Problem; the Responsibility of the Christian Community." Rev. H. J. Armitage will deal with similar matters at the evening service.

COLUMBIA Joseph Gerard, supporting Tom Mix in his William Fox production, "Soft Boiled," now showing at the Columbia Theatre, was also seen with Tom in his thriller, "Three Jumps Ahead." Gerard, who plays the role of the ranch owner in this new Mix thriller, is a serious, sincere actor, who was on the stage many years before entering pictures.

CAPITOL Roland West had the co-operation of metropolitan police departments in producing and directing "Alibi," the United Artists mystery drama now playing at the Capitol Theatre.

DOMINION Douglas Fairbanks appears as a co-star with Mary Pickford for the first time in "Taming of the Shrew," the rollicking talking farce now at the Dominion Theatre. This big United Artists attraction gives the all-talking comedy film, presents the boyish star as the irrepressible Petruchio, barnstorming Romeo, who explodes a bomb-shell of high spirits in the home of his father-in-law to be to woo and tame the fair but shrewish Katherine, played by Mary Pickford.

VARIETY "Teddy," three brilliant acts of 100 per cent comedy will be presented at the Variety Theatre for the last time this afternoon and tonight by the popular Toby Leitch Players, with an all-star cast. This most mirthful of modern farce-comedies has proved an outstanding success. Variety audiences have greeted it with enthusiasm all the week. Raymond Toby Leitch offers his finest brand of hilarious comedy, and the talented Leone Weber is cast in a part well suited to her powers as a truly artistic comedienne.

ROYAL Today is the last opportunity to see the amusing comedy "Hay Fever," played at the Royal Theatre by the Gordon McLeod Players. This brilliant little play has captivated the large audiences who have seen it by its quaint humor and splendid acting. So if you have not been to the Royal this week, do not miss the matinee or the evening performance. On Monday, and for the week, the fine play, "Interference," will be presented. This is one of the cleverest and most entertaining dramas produced during many years. Originally played in London at the St. James Theatre, it was an enormous success. Here then it has been played in many countries; and has also been seen on the screen.

The picture has been adapted from Miss Miller's greatest stage success, and is an all-dialogue production with singing and dancing on the most lavish scale ever attempted on the screen. An all-star supporting cast is seen with Miss Miller. Pert Kelton, who played in Ziegfeld's "Rio Rita," is in the lead and Alexander Gray, the musical comedy favorite who sang in "The Desert Song," appears in the romantic lead. Joe E. Brown, Ford Sterling and T. Roy Barnes are the chief comedians in the gray and rollicking story of a grand duke who becomes a waiter and a humble waitress who becomes a stage star.

"The Love Parade" Cosmopolitan In Character

"The Love Parade," the screen's first original talking-musical romance is an international affair. The story is of an Hungarian. The libretto is by an American. The lyrics are by an Englishman. A Frenchman is starred. A German is director.

The cast includes an Italian, a Welshman, a Czechoslovakian, a daughter of Spain and a Canadian. "The Love Parade," a modern musical extravaganza, coming to the Dominion Theatre for six days starting Monday.

LUMBER OUTPUT AGAIN ON RISE

Sharp Increase Is Reported by Lumbermen's Association During Last Few Days

SEATTLE, Feb. 14.—Lumber production which dropped rapidly during January because of adverse weather conditions, increased sharply during the week ending February 8, reports issued today by the West Coast Lumbermen's Association, re-estimated.

Two hundred and twelve mills in the Douglas fir region of Washington, Oregon and British Columbia, reported that production during the week was 40 per cent greater than the previous week, although orders increased but 9 per cent.

Orders received by the mills, however, exceeded output by 16 per cent during the past four weeks, during the first six weeks of the year was about 40 per cent under the cut for the corresponding period of last year. The cut was $23,167,393 feet this year, and 1,923,263,925 feet in 1929.

SOUND AUCTION and CONTRACT by WILBUR C. WHITEHEAD The World's Greatest Authority

Great Length in Partner's Suit Usually Demands an Immediate Maximum Assist

My opinion, North was more to blame. North, with six Spades to the King and a singleton Ace, should have jumped South's bid of one. Spade to four. Not only do his supporting values, for the most part, distributional, warrant such jump assist, but the number of cards held in partner's suit should warrant the presumption that the original bid was with a suit of but four cards, with which the initial bidder, lacking the King, might be in doubt about advancing to a contract of four if holding little beyond the minimum side strength required for the original bid. In fact, North could visualize that there could be, in all probability, four only in Spades even though South held the bare minimum, as would be the case had South held, instead of his actual holding, the following:

Contract Bidding

	1st Rd.	2nd Rd.
South	Pass	Pass
West	Pass	Pass
North	Pass	Pass
East	Pass	Pass

Duplicate matches, in which each deal is bid and played not only at the table where originally dealt but at every other table competing, the match provides the only practical means at our disposal to observe to what extent the actualities of the game conform or deny the soundness of this or that theory. It was Herbert Spencer, I believe, who stated that when a theory is contradicted by a fact, the theory must be wrong. Let us enumerate some of the actualities of the above deal and observe by the results how best to handle similar situations. First, at two tables the deal was passed out because South refused to open the bidding with his holding. The psychology that actuated such pass is almost laughable, as the player who will refuse to open the bidding with one Spade with South's hand would have no hesitancy in so doing if holding, say:

▲ A Q J 4 3 2 ♥ 10 9 ♦ J 6 ♠ 7 5 4

a vastly inferior holding from the standpoint of fitting with partner's possible holding. Second, at three tables the deal was played at three Spades. In two such instances by South and in one by North. In the first two instances, South opened the bidding with one Spade. East passing, North bid three Spades, concluding the bidding. The trouble here was, no doubt, that South either did not read North's message clearly, such message being particularly clear in two Spades even though holding a four card suit if side strength will warrant, or lacking the courage, with two doubtless of doubtful trick value and a side suit but Q-J high, to accept North's clear invitation to go to a game bid. But is the failure to arrive at a game contract wholly South's fault? In

This Strange Adventure by Mary Roberts Rinehart

(SYNOPSIS) Lambert Colfax, who married Stella, a burlesque actress of the eighties, deserts her and their child Missie. Stella has another daughter, Ellen, whose father is reputed to be dead.

The house settled down after Lambert's departure, into a grim routine of supply and demand. Ellen took a clerical position, and every morning at six Missie went downstairs and lighted the fire, for those were the days of early openings. Ellen had been to work at 7:30. She cooked breakfast, got Ellen off, and went to school. At nine or thereabouts, Stella came down, drank some coffee and then made the bed. She seemed to have no plans, no hopes. Sometimes, but not often, she went to the market. She carried a basket on her arm, and the touch of rough velvet to her lips was increasingly evident.

But the trip to market were disgusting to the girls. She spent too much, for one thing, and also there was something vaguely mysterious about them. She had never marketed in the old days. One day Ellen's office was closed, and she followed Stella to the market. She saw her do her buying, and then take up her position at the curbs as though waiting for something or somebody.

Ellen waited, and Stella stood there until an ancient coachman, driven by a negro coachman, and there descended a tall thin old woman in a jet dolman and a high black bonnet. A boy ran out to hold the horses. The coachman descended with a market basket and followed his mistress inside. Stella was about to follow her when Ellen touched her on the arm.

"What are you waiting for?" Stella started.

"I'm not waiting for anything," she said sharply. "What are you doing here?"

She went home very quietly, Ellen carrying the basket, but inside the door she called for Missie and caught her to her in a storm of tears. "What are you waiting for?" she asked.

"I'm not waiting for anything," she said sharply. "What are you doing here?"

REICHTAG WOULD LIMIT PLACES AVAILABLE FOR SELLING LIQUOR

Restrictions of Licenses May Go Far to Put Halt to Great Outlay for Liquor

By EDGAR ANSEL MOWER (Copyright, 1930, by The Chicago Daily News Foreign Service)

BERLIN, Germany, Feb. 14.—Germany spends each year on alcohol and tobacco enough money to pay the total of her reparations payments due to the Allies. Nevertheless, the antialcohol movement has not made much progress until recently. Yet Germany, the land of wine and beer, has a fairly strong antialcohol movement, which is strongest among the very numerous members of the so-called Youth movement.

One of the leaders of the war on alcohol is the Socialist deputy, Wilhelm Sollmann, who has agitated against the demon rum for twenty-eight years. He has just been instrumental in having accepted by a Reichstag committee the so-called Saloon Law, in German the Schank- und Gastwirtschaftsgesetz. Asked to define this bill, he replied as follows:

"To diminish saloons. This law will diminish the number of saloons and places where alcohol is sold; will discipline the sale of intoxicating liquor and, if possible, raise the level of the saloon keepers. We tried to have a number of licensed places reduced to one for each 400 inhabitants, but there is small chance of realizing this yet. We hope for improvements in three directions. First, by the new law no new concessions can be granted for three years; second, protection of minors shall be completed so that no beer may be sold to children under sixteen years of age and no spirits to those under eighteen; third, the closing law will be revised to make the time limit of sales earlier.

"Our next aim is local option, but today there is no majority in the Reichstag to enable us to get this. The movement against alcohol grows steadily in Germany. When I began the campaign I was considered a madman, but today virtually all the parties outside the vested interests agree that the consumption of alcohol must be diminished.

"Our success is chiefly due to four reasons: 1. Female suffrage; 2. The Youth movement; 3. The Socialist campaign among the workers, and 4. The churches. My personal opinion is that alcohol is based on its effects on the workers, for both economic and hygienic reasons. The workers should not waste their already low wages by spending money for drink. The workers must eat and live better. Moreover, through the use of alcohol the workers are stupefied physically and morally and they become indifferent to their political duties."

FILIPINOS AND JAPANESE PLACE IN PACIFIC WATERS

By WALTER ROBB (Copyright, 1930, by The Chicago Daily News Foreign Service)

MANILA, P. I., Feb. 13.—Filipino leaders urged the use of the Philippines as an international football in the London Naval Conference, and the reported plan of the American delegation possibly to abandon fortification of the islands and thereby influence the Japanese to pare down their demands, in a leading editorial in The Philippine Herald, organ of Manuel Quezon, President of the Insular Senate.

Japan's object, says the article, is to prevent fortification of the islands. She forced the United States to agree not to fortify the Philippines as a condition to accepting a 5-5-3 ratio in the Washington treaties of 1922. Japan has a similar objective in insisting on a 10-10-7 ratio for cruisers and lesser vessels now.

The Herald says that if the Philippines are to be free, the United States should not subscribe to agreements to keep them unfortified. The paper declares: "We are unable to prepare for independent statehood because such agreements would be binding upon the Philippines as upon America while the United States remains in control here. We should protest against America's trading with the welfare and safety of 13,000,000 Filipinos."

They'll receive plenty from me when I see them," shouted Stella. But once more she knew she was beaten, and once more there was a certain gloom in her retreat. She went down the steps, along the drive and out of the gates, quietly and without looking back, although she knew that cold and hostile eyes were staring at her from the window behind her.

Stella kept her letter for a week. Then Mr. Elliott becoming urgent, she decided to present it. It was a letter from her mother, Missie, dressed for that visit, Missie who suggested the black dress, and who hid the rouge pot before Stella could get it.

"You look fine, mom. Quiet and nice."

Stella eyed her, but she said nothing.

She secured the position. There were no mannequins then, slim bits of girls delicately made up, on whom even ordinary garments reflected a certain glamour of youth. "Fine" women were in demand, full-figured, not too young. They both sold their wares and exhibited them.

Missie soon left school. She was not sorry to leave. Her clothes had been shabby for a long time; her spring-heeled shoes were worn. And with the frank cruelty of youth the other pupils had increasingly left her alone. She felt timid and shy with them, self-conscious when, on Decoration Day, each child took a poppy to decorate the soldier's graves in the cemetery on the hill, her plant was always the smallest and cheapest. Yet the least of veterans in procession never failed to bring tears to her eyes while the other girls giggled and laughed.

She did not know why she wept. The war to her meant only a series of dreary dates in a dreary history book. Yet the sound of the fife and drums, the sight of the men who had fought for those lattered flags, affected her profoundly. The tears rolled down her cheeks. She knew nothing of America, its hopes and aspirations, its enormous possibilities; later on the "oasis" she learned to suffer and almost die in the learning, and out of that, as out of all pain, something fine was to come. But not then. Not until years had gone by.

She was alone all day, after that. Sometimes she sat, after her work was done, and tried to puzzle things out. They seemed to have no meaning for her. Men were hard and cruel, and yet they fought wars and died for their country. Strange inconsistencies. Children were born in pain and sometimes they died. Then why have to suffer and bear a child? To what end? Women loved men, bore their children, did not know how to live, and lost them anyway. Why should that be?

She would never marry. She would look after Stella the rest of her life, make up to her, if she could. A wave of love for her mother, of resentment for what life had done to her, would fairly shake her.

CASE OF APPEALS
That the right of appellants to take appeals from the Municipal Courts of Revision to either the County or Supreme Courts should not be curtailed, was the opinion expressed by Mr. L. A. Hanna, Liberal, Alberni, when the Municipal Committee of the House received a request from the Union of British Columbia Municipalities to amend Section 226 of the Municipal Act to provide that all such appeals be to a judge of the County Court having jurisdiction within the municipality. The union for the purpose of the union was to avoid the expense of Supreme Court trials over trifling assessment appeals. Mr. Hanna contended that if it was a question of costs, that the act could be amended dealing with costs only. The union's request will receive the consideration of the Municipal Committee.

ORANGUTANG BABY BORN IN CAPTIVITY
By WILLIAM H. STONEMAN (Copyright, 1930, by The Chicago Daily News Foreign Service)

ROME, Italy, Feb. 14.—Perhaps it was because they had been reading the propaganda urging the population of Italy to rear larger families for the glorification of "La Patria," or perhaps it just happened.

At any rate Sahib and Sahiba, well known citizens of the Rome Zoo, presented their overjoyed keepers yesterday with a baby orangutang, the first ever to be born in the Eternal City and one of the first which ever gazed the light of day while its parents were in captivity.

Sahib, who apparently does not appreciate the importance of fatherhood, snarled fiercely when he first saw the child, while Sahiba, who is more philosophical about the matter, sat in a corner and grinned.

Man Injured in Back; Shoulder Was Hurt
"That stablike pain hit me in the back one day, and I knew I had strained my back," writes S. E. Couture from Colon. "At Esplanade's drug store they urged me to use Nerviline. I am glad I did not because with Nerviline I rubbed all the soreness out of my back and shoulder joint." There is a wonderful relief for muscular pain in Nerviline. It drives away rheumatism, takes the stiffness out of sore joints. It's fine for strains, sprains and stiffness. For coughs, hoarseness and sore chest Nerviline is a boon to the entire family. WALKER DECISIVELY OUTPOINTS LOMSKI

Aberdeen Light-Heavy No Match for Champ Of Middle Division

Walker Wins Seven of Ten Rounds in First Invasion of Heavier Class—Westerner Barely Survives "Bulldog's" Vicious Attack

OLYMPIA STADIUM, DETROIT, Feb. 14.—Mickey Walker, middleweight champion of the world, made a successful invasion of the light-heavyweight ranks tonight by decisively defeating Leo Lomski, the Aberdeen, Wash., assassin, in a ten-round battle in the Olympia Arena. Walker, conceding nine and three-quarter pounds, gave the Western contender a one-sided lacing, easily winning seven of the ten rounds by a wide margin. Lomski could offer no defence for Walker's righthand blasts to the chin and vicious left hooks to the head and body. He was in apparent distress in the ninth and tenth rounds and continually wrapped his arms around Mickey's body in an effort to stop his assault.

The match drew a record-breaking crowd for the Olympia Arena, attracting in excess of 17,000 spectators, with receipts in the neighborhood of $50,000.

Walker weighed 163 1/2 at 3 o'clock this afternoon, while Lomski tipped the beam at 173 1/4. Walker displayed no fear of his taller and heavier opponent. He assumed the offensive from the start and by the time the concluding rounds were finished he was so weary from the battering he received that all the fight had been knocked out of him. It appeared to be questionable whether he might be able to survive Mickey's well-directed shots to the jaw and heavy blows to the body.

Walker began to move convinc-

Mandell-McLarnin Bout Now Set for Chicago, March 1

CHICAGO, Feb. 14.—The Chicago Stadium Corporation today bowed to the will of the Illinois State Athletic Commission by agreeing to hold the Sammy Mandell-Jimmy McLarnin match on March 1. The decision to agree was made by the stadium directors, some of whom had considered injunctive proceedings to enable them to go through with the original date, February 24, which was denied by the commission.

ingly into the lead in the fifth round and from then on the fight was never in doubt.

Lomski began to retreat in the sixth and in the seventh was knocked staggering into a corner when Mickey connected heavily with a smashing right and left to the head and body.

Walker opened up an old gash over Lomski's left eye in the fourth round and kept hammering at it incessantly thereafter. By the time the fight was finished Lomski was bleeding also from a wound over his right eye.

Lomski at no time appeared dangerous and did not come near winning a round unless it was the third, in which he managed to keep the New Jersey bulldog at a safe distance with a long left jab to the face.

Walker appeared to have the edge in the first two rounds on his aggressiveness and sharper punching.

He backed Lomski into the ropes in the first under a hard right to the head and left hooks to the head and body. Lomski missed often with Walker carrying the fight to him, and scoring frequently with lefts to the body and head.

After a fairly tame third and fourth rounds, Walker came back to give Lomski a one-sided lacing in the fifth. He cracked the Washington fighter with a rasping left hook to the chin and jolting right cross to the head. Lomski was bleeding from an old wound over his left eye before the round ended.

WESTERN STAGGERS
Walker kept up his heavy assault in the sixth and seventh with a barrage of lefts and rights to the head and body. He forced Lomski to break ground in the sixth and in the seventh knocked the Westerner staggering into the ropes with a right and left to the head.

Walker, setting the pace in the eighth round, had Lomski in distress in the ninth when he battered him all over the ring under and blistering attack in the tenth and body. Lomski evidently was tired and could offer no defence for Mickey's righthand blasts that shook him to the heels.

In the opening bout, Gene McCue, of New York, was given a six-round decision over Tony Canello, of Detroit. McCue weighed 171 1/4; Canello 173. The decision was greeted with loud cheering of approval.

Harry Dubinsky, of Chicago, pounded Dick Landis, of Wales, around the ring for a popular six-round decision. Each weighed 132 1/2 pounds.

Charley Retzdaff, of Duluth,

Scott With His Manager

knocked out Tony Talarico, of Walla Walla, Wash., in the second round of a scheduled six-round bout. Retzdaff weighed 193 1/2; Talarico 195 1/4. Talarico was felled six times in the first round and twice in the second.

CARNERA SCORES ANOTHER KAYO

Giant Italian Heavyweight Stops Sigman in First Round at Memphis

MEMPHIS, Tenn., Feb. 14.—Primo Carnera, huge Italian batter, knocked out big Jim Sigman, of South Carolina, in the first round of their eight-round bout here tonight.

The fight was as one-sided as have been all of Carnera's previous matches in this country. Sigman went down and out in 1 minute and 35 seconds of the first round, after taking eight or nine heavy rights and lefts to the body and face. He landed only two blows, neither of sufficient force to hurt the mammoth Italian.

FIDEL LA BARBA WINS BY KNOCKOUT

HOLLYWOOD, Cal., Feb. 14.—Fidel La Barba, former flyweight champion, knocked out Charley Sullivan, Bakersfield featherweight, in the fifth round of a scheduled ten-round bout here tonight. Fidel entered the ring at 123 1/4 pounds.

Rosenbloom Proves Too Good for Ace Hudkins

New York Fighter Tames Nebraska Wildcat in Decisive Style Before 17,000 Fans at Madison Square Garden—Lenhart Wins Semi-Final

NEW YORK, Feb. 14.—Ace Hudkins, the Nebraska Wildcat, collided with the cunning paws of Maxey Rosenbloom in Madison Square Garden tonight and wound up at the end of ten rounds looking like a bedraggled but very tame tabby cat.

Slapsey Maxie, just as wild as the cat and as unorthodox as a ring full of southpaws, slammed and mauled at Hudkins; clouted him from every angle, and brought roars of delight from a packed house of 17,000 that saw as rough a shindig as ever was staged in the big battle pen. There was not a murmur of disapproval at the unanimous decision of the judges and referee in Rosenbloom's favor.

The Harlem Harlequin, taking Hudkins as his final prep for a light-heavyweight title battle with Jimmy Flattery and in his own native fashion, training for the struggle on a shave and a haircut, made the ferocious Ace appear ridiculous at times. He filled Hudkins with left jabs, led with right-hand punches that rarely missed, pulled tugged and hauled the Ace dizzy, and at the close was bouncing around like a circus clown.

Hudkins, making his light-heavyweight debut in New York, fresh from a knockout victory over Arthur

Flynn, in Boston, strove mightily to slug the issue out at close quarters, but Maxie clamped him into submission. The Ace swung, hooked, jabbed and tried everything in the fist book, but Rosenbloom refused to stay where the "Wildcat" aimed and insisted on slugging back from the most outlandish positions.

The Ace, fresh and confident, managed to win the first round by chasing Rosenbloom all over the ring and slugging whatever part of Maxie's anatomy was available. He won the second by a shade with the same tactics, but Rosenbloom, warmed to his task, turned in the third with his bewildering attack and Hudkins' period of dominance was over.

He tried everything he had but as Maxie continued to slap him about the ring, Hudkins wilted. At the end his bedraggled expression, plus the water that dropped from his blonde hair, left him bristling still like a wildcat, but rather like one that had just been tossed into a river.

Freddy Lenhart, Spokane, light-heavyweight, punched out a ten-round decision over Roey Rosales, of Cleveland, in a grueling semi-lustily. Lenhart weighed 177 1/2 and Rosales 170.

NET STARS OPPOSE CHANGE IN RULES

Tilden, Borotra, Marjorie Morrill and Betty Nuthall Object to Any Alterations in Code

NEW YORK, Feb. 14.—Big Bill Tilden is opposed to any change in the rules of tennis.

Answering questions propounded by the magazine, Tennis, Tilden, from France, where he is playing on the Riviera, declared he was opposed to suggested rule changes that would allow only one ball on service instead of two, and that would allow the playing over of all net cord shots which occur during rallies.

Tilden pronounced himself indifferent as to whether the word "love" be left out of the scoring system.

Joan Borotra, of France; Marjorie Morrill, of Dedham, Mass.; and Betty Nuthall, of England, also are opposed to changes in the rules, although Miss Morrill added in a communication to the magazine that she was opposed to the rest between sets. These tennis luminaries join Helen Williams Moody, world's women's champion, whose replies to the same questions were published several weeks ago, in opposing any change.

Henry Austin, ranking player of England, and Frank Shields, of New York, would limit the service to one ball, and Mrs. L. A. Harper, of Oakland, California, No. 8 in the national ranking, would have all "nets" played over and also would favor revision of the scoring system.

GONE are "GASPEERS"

says WAR VETERAN

War veterans remember "gasps" . . . the so-called Virginia cigarettes handed out with the rations . . . that made billets like gas-filled dugouts . . . that set the army coughing from Flanders to the Somme.

After the war came Buckingham . . . the blended cigarette that revolutionized all previous smoking values and set new standards of pleasure and enjoyment. Veterans found at last a cigarette cool, smooth and soothing.

Read what R. L. Condy, noted sports writer, says about Buckingham Cigarettes:

"Being slightly gassed overseas, I am compelled to exercise care in smoking. When I returned to Canada, I tried brand after brand of cigarettes, but found none suitable. Then I tried Buckingham. I can truthfully say that Buckingham Cigarettes are the only cigarettes I can smoke in absolute comfort."

Trading at New York Very Uneven Though Some Rises Appear in Certain Lines

NEW YORK, Feb. 14.—The stock market continued to make uneven progress today. Several leading industrial and rail stocks were bid up 2 to 12 points to new high levels for the recovery, but the market was filled with cross currents, and a wide sprinkling of shares closed lower. There was little change in the pace of trading, total shares exceeding 3,500,000.

An unexpected firming of call money in the early afternoon encouraged the bear element, and the market sold off substantially for a time, but speculators for the rise regained control of the movement before the close.

The call loan rate rose from 4 to 4 1/2 per cent.

The steel shares displayed outstanding strength with United States Steel rising more than 4 points to a new high for the year at 189 1/2.

Buoyant feature was Eastman Kodak, which sold up 12 points to 205, a new peak for 1929, but about 60 points below the 1929 top.

Foreign exchanges edged moderately, sterling cables being quoted at $4.86 3/4, off 1-16, and the lowest in weeks.

Communication Company bonds played leading roles in today's market. Aside from those issues and a couple of convertible rails, the list had little depth and net changes in seasoned obligations were minor fractions.

WHEAT PRICES GO DOWNWARD

Market at Winnipeg Very Weak—No Trace of Export Business in Any Grade

NOT MUCH DOING IN THE COARSE GRAINS

(Branson, Brown & Co., Ltd.)

WINNIPEG, Feb. 14.—Wheat prices continued their downward trend today, the local market being very weak, with prices on the bottom more than 3c under the close last night in the old crop months, while the October was a little firmer.

Opening prices were little changed, but scattered local selling was quickly in evidence, which was followed by some concentrated buying that was credited to the pool, and this was again followed by rather heavy selling that was said to be for New York account. The offerings were very liberal at times and entirely swamped the local bulls, who were inclined to support the market, but actually the buying was very thin with little doing outside of buying against daily bids, the market going through them for more than one cent.

Not a trace of any export business could be found in any grades. Direct exporters could not confirm any sales over night, and the local market was very thin with little doing outside of buying against daily bids, the market going through them for more than one cent.
